HEART Scented & Soaking Stone

DENK

Material

The heart is made from a special blend of Porosium and porous Granicium. The fusion of these two ceramics creates unique structures and distinctive properties. The open-pored structure allows it to absorb liquids. Each heart is carefully handcrafted and, thanks to its individual grain, is a truly unique piece.

Drinking stone

Place the heart-shaped stone in your bird bath – it only needs to be partially submerged in the water. Within a few seconds, the ceramic will have absorbed the water and the surface will be damp. This allows insects to land safely on the stone and drink without any risk.

Scented stone

The heart also works wonderfully as a natural scent diffuser. Place it in a small dish (available as an accessory) and add a few drops of aromatic oil, perfume or fragrance essence to the porous ceramic. The scent is gently absorbed and gradually released into the air.
